CMS Interactive Series Recordings Available

Did you miss the first session of CMS' interactive WebEx series, featuring key members of the renal community? The recording and materials from the January 28, 2010 presentation – “An Independent Facility’s Perspective” with Larry Emerson, President of NRAA – are now available via the Project CROWNWeb website. The second session of this six-part series, which focused on the “CROWNWeb Batch Submission Process,” was held on February 25th. Recordings and the materials from each call are available via www.projectcrownweb.org typically a few days after each session.

Remaining CMS Interactive Series Sessions

Date	Time	Topic
March 25, 2010	2pm-3pm ET	Clinical Performance Measures
April 29, 2010	2pm-3pm ET	Vascular Access: What You Need to Know
May 27, 2010	2pm-3pm ET	CROWNWeb Tips and Tricks from the Real World
June 24, 2010	2pm-3pm ET	Two-Factor Authentication in CROWNWeb

Register for these WebEx sessions today! <http://www.projectcrownweb.org/crown/presentations.php>.

Vascular Access Simulation

Learn how to enter Vascular Access data into CROWNWeb by interacting with the Vascular Access Simulation on the Project CROWNWeb site. This simulation replicates exactly how the live production system behaves once a clinical value has been entered. Other simulations are available as well. Step through the procedures required to admit a new patient, complete a CMS-2728 Form, manage users' roles and scope, and more.

Access the available CROWNWeb Simulations, today! Mouse over the “Training” link on the Project CROWNWeb website and then click on the “CROWNWeb Simulations” link.

CROWNWeb Booth Ready for Bookings

Did you know that you can request the CROWNWeb booth for meetings or conferences? You can have the CROWNWeb booth and collateral materials shipped to you in time for your next Network and/or facility event.

Email CRAFT@nw7.esrd.net to book the CROWNWeb booth!

Upcoming Conferences Featuring CROWNWeb

Dr. Crown's FAQ of the Month

Dear Dr. Crown: We currently see over 100 patients at our facility. Are we able to appoint multiple CROWNWeb Facility Editors and/or CROWNWeb Facility Viewers in order to delegate responsibilities among our employees? – Busy Clinic Manager

Dear Busy Clinic Manager: Yes. A facility may have multiple Facility Editors, Facility Viewers and/or CROWNWeb Facility Administrators. However, each individual must complete a separate QIMS Account Form indicating his/her desired role.
